About the Program :

JavaScript is a scripting or programming language that allows you to implement complex features on web pages — every time a web page does more than just sit there and display static information for you to look at — displaying timely content updates, interactive maps, animated 2D/3D graphics, scrolling video jukeboxes, etc. — you can bet that JavaScript is probably involved. It is the third layer of the layer cake of standard web technologies, two of which (HTML and CSS) we have covered in much more detail in other parts of the Learning Area.

Program Objectives:

Build an application that structures its data with JavaScript objects created with constructor functions.

Add functionality to JavaScript objects by adding methods to the object's prototype.

Use event delegation to attach an event listener to a parent element that fires for a child element.

Implement 'separation of concerns' to create JavaScript functions that focus on doing just one thing.

Program Outcomes:

Programming with javascript • Utilizing javascript with HTML and CSS to create a web application. • Using events to trigger an action • Drawing on the web canvas • Using video and audio files on a web page • Going beyond standard fonts • Detecting the screen size of a device and optimize the application for the different sizes • Using local storage to remember data across web sessions.

About the Program :

Real-Time Machine Learning is the process of training a machine learning model by running live data through it, to continuously improve the model. This is in contrast to "traditional" machine learning, in which a data scientist builds the model with a batch of historical testing data in an offline mode.

Program Objectives:

The purpose of machine learning is to discover patterns in your data and then make predictions based on often complex findings to answer business questions, detect and analyse trends and help solve problems.

The benefits of real-time machine learning include faster decision-making, improved customer experiences, and better predictions. Additionally, this approach can be helpful in situations where retraining the model is expensive or when there is a need to respond quickly to changes in

Program Outcomes:

Understand a wide variety of learning algorithms. Understand how to evaluate models generated from data. Apply the algorithms to a real problem, optimize the models learned and report on the expected accuracy that can be achieved by applying the models.
